cards for each group of three or four and cut as indicated.

Level

Upper-intermediate (B2)

Time

35 minutes

Introduction

In this second conditional speaking activity, students ask, answer and discuss what they would do in hypothetical situations and moral dilemmas.

Procedure

Divide the students into groups of three or four.

Give each group a set of question cards.

Ask the students to shuffle the cards and place them face-down in a pile on the desk.

Students then take turns picking up a card and completing the question with the second conditional, e.g. 'If you didn't like the way your partner dressed, would you tell them?'

The student then asks the hypothetical question to the group members, who each answer in turn.

Students then discuss the hypothetical situation or moral dilemma and try to come up with a group answer that they think would be best for the situation, noting it down on the back of the card.

When the groups have finished, go through each second conditional question and have the groups tell the class their answers.

Discuss any surprising or interesting answers in more detail.
